GRAND JURY IN PROBE FOR EVIDENCE IN IRENE MOORE TACONI MYSTERY

Many Summoned Before Grand Jury Inquisitorial Body—Nothing Yet Given Out to Indicate Trend of Results OF Investigation.

As The Echo goes to press Thursday noon for Friday morning distribution, Hancock County grand jury is still in session, continuing its quizzing of many who have been subpoenaed with view of ascertaining information that might lead to an indictment. However, as yet nothing definite has been given out of the jury room and the probe continues with all possible secrecy.

The grand jury initiated its probe Monday immediately after Circuit Court for Hancock county had convened for the Fall Term, with Judge W. A. White on the bench, and after he had delivered his charge to the grand jury and specifically expressed references in the premises of the Irene Moore Taconi affair wherein the 17-year-old Bay St. Louis resident had been found battered and bruised, lying in an unconscious condition at the west end of the seawall at that point, from which she died eight hours later, never regaining consciousness. Death sealed her lips.

This was June 30, 1933. County Prosecuting Attorney E. J. Gex and District Attorney Cliff Cowan, did not wait for the day following after the grand jury had been impaneled to probe the matter of surmised or imaginative charges—Suicide, murder, homicide. Or, perhaps, accident. But with characteristic promptness and vigor—both veterans in the pursuit of prosecution—at once delved into the matter, probing deeply and as far as possible, armed as Mr. Gex is, with a mass of material carefully gathered in the term of the tragic occurrence and this memorable "second Monday of September," date established by law for convening of court.

Prosecuting Attorney Gex has not been disturbed or even perturbed by sensational reporters and others, who, according to Mr. Gex's own statement, has quoted or rather misquoted him when he had not given voice to anything that might be construed as an expression or even an opinion. Why this cannot be conjectured. True he has concerned himself considerably, unostentatiously Gex shrinks from notoriety, abhors cheap publicity and has conducted himself during his long public life in a manner becoming the dignity and conductive to the effectiveness of his office and its incumbent duties, seeking results at all times.

When the coroner's jury on the afternoon of June 30, declared an open verdict that the deceased had met death from unknown cause, there seemingly was naught else to do but to do as he did—to await the action of the grand jury and probe the matter to its very depths. There was no evidence nor reason to cause the arrest of anyone to be given a preliminary hearing or anyone that might justly or unjustly thrust into the solitary confines of prison, incarcerated, humiliated and to say nothing of physical pain and mental anguish. To do so in the absence of definite evidence, would have in a measure disparaged the intelligence and diligence of the coroner's jury, composed of representative and honored citizens of this county, even though on the theory coroner's jury findings are not infallible. And more particularly so when there were no established grounds for even suspicion of one or more persons.

Popular prejudice, if such exists, cannot find play in a matter so serious as this without possible and subsequent consequence. Hence, it is best for the prosecution, after the decision of coroner's decision, be guided by sober and deliberate judgment and gather its own evidence, and weigh every conclusion before an indictment may be reasonably founded and presented the court from the secret chambers of the grand inquisitorial body—but one. That was that at the proper time and place due diligence would be given and no effort spared to solve the mystery—if "mystery" it be, and to bring to justice the guilty person or persons, if any such there be.

Judge Charges Grand Jury. Characterizing the death as a "deplorable tragedy," in his charge to the grand jurors Monday morning, Circuit Judge White said "at least two theories had been advanced in connection with the case."

He said in part in reference to the case: "There has been a great deal of publicity in the newspapers about this deplorable tragedy which occurred at the end of the highway bridge. I don't know whether that has aided in ascertaining the facts or

FEDERAL COURT ASKED TO ADMIT CARL MARSHALL

Petition Seeks Rein-Statement of Practice Rights

A petition to give Carl Marshall Gulf coast attorney, permission to practice in federal courts has been filed in the southern division of the United States district court, it was revealed at Jackson Saturday by a special committee of Mississippi lawyers. In a statement issued Saturday it was pointed out that the federal court of this district, which brought about Marshall's disbarment in November 1931, had declined to appear at a hearing for Marshall, which was attended by the coast attorney and his attorneys.

The fact that Marshall was reinstated by the supreme court last April was the basis of the petition for his reinstatement in federal court. "Cannot Practice in Federal Courts." "As the matter now stands," the petition pointed out, "Mr. Marshall is reinstated in the state courts, and he may practice in all courts of the state of Mississippi, but in the event a client should desire him to remove a case filed in a state court to the United States district court, or if the opposite party should remove such a suit, he could not appear as counsel."

"The principal of all the courts, it is recognized in all the courts, it appears to us, should likewise entitle Mr. Marshall to be reinstated to practice law in the United States district court, in which his petition is now on file. Asks Status Be Recognized. "For the foregoing reasons, we are constrained to recommend that this court recognize the status created for Mr. Marshall by the judgment of the supreme court of Mississippi reinstating him; and that he be re-enrolled as an attorney of the district court in open court and taking the oath and otherwise complying with the rules of the court," said the statement.

The committee was composed of Judge Garland Lyell, Jackson; Thomas Brady, Brookhaven, and R. E. Wilbourne, Meridian.

DEDICATION OF NEW SEMINARY BY BISHOP R. O. GEROW

On the evening of the 7th of September, at 5 P. M., the most Reverend R. O. Gerow, D. D., Bishop of Natchez, officiated at the solemn dedication of the new Major Seminary building at St. Augustine's, which has just been completed. A procession was formed in the chapel of the Preparatory Seminary building and the official liturgical services for the blessing of a school was begun and carried out at the new building.

At the close of this impressive ceremony, His Excellency spoke words of praise to those in charge of this great undertaking. He also sincerely encouraged all those who would teach and study there and expressed the hope that many zealous and holy priests would come forth from those walls to carry the gospel to countless souls.

The ceremonies were well attended by the clergy of the vicinity. They were present among others the Right Reverend Abbot Columba, Thuis, O. S. B., of St. Joseph's Abbey, Covington, La., and some twenty priests from the Gulf Coast. Several Orders of Religious Sisters were represented and a large crowd of people, both colored and white.

Five of the twelve seminarians who will occupy the new building arrived that same noon. They have just completed their two years' novitiate course and made their First Vows in the Society of the Divine Word on August 15th.

The following day, Sept. 8th, witnessed another memorable event in the history of St. Augustine's Seminary. At a solemn Mass three of the seminarians made their final profession of vows in the Society of the Divine Word, thus becoming full-fledged members of the order and renewed their temporal vows for a period of one year.

Major Seminary Building.

This building, constructed of pressed brick and concrete, is of a strictly modern type. It faces Second street, set off 600 feet from the street line, showing to advantage in the distance and providing for an imposing entrance. It was set back for another purpose as well, to be near the group of other buildings.

This is the major seminary building, officially termed. Here will be housed exclusively seminarians who are advanced in the study of their vocation and include classrooms for the oath and otherwise complying with the rules of the court," said the statement.

The building costs approximately $20,000.00 but is worth twice that amount. Material was bought at a time when prices were at lowest ebb and labor was secured at least cost. The interior is completely equipped and every modern device known to building for safety and convenience is embraced.

CENTRAL SCHOOL P. T. A. HOLD FIRST MEETING OF SCHOOL SEASON

Mrs. A. P. Smith, President, Delivers Opening Address; Various Reports Received.

The first meeting of the Parent-Teachers' Association of the Bay Central School was held Tuesday afternoon, September 12, in the school auditorium.

Mrs. A. P. Smith, president, gave a brief opening address, welcoming the new mothers. Following, Mrs. L. W. Jacobs read the National President's message, "Make the Convention Live."

Mrs. Harry da Ponte announced the P. T. A. parade scheduled for Tuesday, September twenty-sixth, at 10 A. M., to be followed immediately by a membership drive.

The report, by Mrs. Milton Phillips, of the summer health round-up was most gratifying. Physical examinations were given 125 pre-school children. In consequence 48 children were given the toxoid for diphtheria and 16 tonsil operations were performed.

Mrs. C. C. McDonald spoke enthusiastically of the State P. T. A. convention to be held at Hattiesburg, October 4-6. At this gathering the state presidents of P. T. A. will be selected.

Mrs. A. P. Smith will be sent as official delegate to the convention. Others to go are Mrs. McDonald, Mrs. Jim Evans, Mrs. L. W. Jacobs, Mrs. Bland Logan and Mrs. Milton Phillips.

YOUNG PEOPLE BANDITS

Three Youthful Couples Seated on Clermont Seawall Beaten and Robbed Friday.

Seated on the ground rail of the seawall at Clermont Harbor, a party of young people from Bay St. Louis and Waveland were victims of bandits who beat and robbed them. Getting money and a diamond ring from one of the young ladies, the party composed of three couples, composed Misses Helen and Margaret Ruhr, daughters of Justice of the Peace August Ruhr, Miss Pavre, also of Waveland, John Demoran, employed by the Bay Laundry; John Monti, Jr., and Robert Younger, all of Bay St. Louis.

The party were quietly seated engaged in general conversation and in general admiration of the moon as it silvered the waters of the Sound, when two men unawares appeared and yelled, "Stick 'em up." The boys were struck over the head by either a billet or sandbag and at once searched and relieved of money and jewelry. The car in which they had traveled to Clermont Harbor was disabled by the bandits who removed two of the spark plugs and the young people were forced to walk to Waveland where they gave the alarm. This occurred about 10 o'clock.

The sheriff and other officers were advised and were told by the victims of the hold-up that they would readily recognize the men (white) if caught. Sheriff Kellar and associates have no definite clues but have been diligent in effort to apprehend the bandits.

Similar in many respects to the more than 20 reported robberies that have terrorized the Mississippi Coast during the past six weeks, the bandits escaped with a considerable amount of money and jewelry after abusing their victims and disabling their automobile.

DANCE FOR C.C.C. BOYS FRIDAY, 22

Local Committee In Charge Of Evening of Pleasure For Uncle Sam's Young Charges

Second dance of the season at Hancock county reforestation camp, north of Kiln, is scheduled for the evening of Friday, September 22, next Friday, and meetings held at the Chamber of Commerce, with Chairman H. Sylvester, permanent chairman, have concluded arrangements for another delightful evening for the young civilizing of the camp.

It was the sense of the meeting that only married ladies should serve as chaperones and these were not supposed to dance only by special arrangement or an exception of the rule, the idea is to allow the young and unmarried set to dance with the young men. And to which rule the married ladies readily subscribed, realizing the purpose and idea of such plan.

Young ladies from Bay St. Louis planning to attend must procure tickets of admission in advance, either from Mrs. J. H. Sylvester or from any of the official chaperones, or, at the Chamber of Commerce, Mrs. M. Juden, secretary, in attendance. These cards may be retained and will be necessary to join the party which is to be held at the residence of Mrs. (Dr.) A. P. Smith, 7 o'clock. Young ladies expecting to return on the official trucks must be of the number going.

Chaperones for the dance are: Mrs. C. G. Moreau, Mrs. J. L. Jacobs, Mrs. T. E. Kellar, Mrs. L. S. McQueen, Mrs. Joseph E. Schaff. Permanent Committee: Mrs. James H. Sylvester, chairman; Mrs. (Dr.) A. P. Smith, Mrs. (Dr.) W. S. Speer, Mrs. Kenneth W. Pepperdine, Mrs. Sarah Mae H. Edwards, Mrs. M. Juden, Miss Mae H. Edwards, Mrs. M. Juden.

Chaperones and members of the permanent committee are requested to meet in a body for conference next Tuesday morning, September 19, 10 o'clock, at Chamber of Commerce. This meeting is imperative and a full attendance is urged. Requested by the chairman, Mrs. (Dr.) Anderson is chairlady of the committee at Kiln and young ladies from that section desiring to attend the dance will confer with her for tickets and any and all information. Participants from that section of the county and vicinity will leave in a body from Kiln.

All mothers able to go are urged to do so as Bay St. Louis wishes to be well represented at the convention. An instructive and interesting time is promised.

OLIVER'S TRIAL IS POSTPONED BY CO. CIRCUIT COURT

Attorney For Alleged Bank Robber Asks for Continuance on Ground That Wife is Delayed in St. Louis By Illness of Son.

The setting of a trial date for Alfred Oliver, alleged bank bandit under indictment for robbery, was delayed Monday in Hancock county circuit court as defense counsel presented a certificate from a St. Louis physician asserting Oliver's son was an encephalitis victim causing the absence of important witnesses.

That efforts would be made to set the trial for a later date during the present three-week term of court was indicated when District Attorney R. Cliff Cowan suggested that S. C. Mize, defense counsel, confer with him later in the week as to the probability of fixing an early date for trial.

Victim of Encephalitis. Oliver, released several weeks ago to Hancock county authorities by Louisiana state penitentiary officials for his return here to face the robbery indictment, is still confined to his cage cell in the Harrison county jail in Gulfport where he was lodged for safe keeping upon an order by Circuit Judge Walter A. White of Biloxi.

In pleading for a delay in setting a trial date, Monday, Attorney Mize said that he had the physician's certificate to show that Oliver's wife is at the bedside of Alfred Oliver, Jr., who is ill with sleeping sickness in St. Louis, and she would be unable to appear as a witness "for the present at least."

Expect to Prove Alibi. The attorney characterized Mrs. Oliver as an important witness, stating he expected to establish that Oliver was in St. Louis at the time of the alleged robbery of the local Mercantile bank in a rooming house set up in February 1932. Mr. Mize indicated that other witnesses from St. Louis may accompany Mrs. Oliver here to testify. It is for the robbery of the local bank that Oliver is under indictment.

Mrs. Oliver is understood to have returned to St. Louis from the Mississippi coast several days ago. She had visited Oliver at the county jail in Gulfport on several occasions after he was confined there about six weeks ago.

Oliver was transferred from Angola state prison in Louisiana to Bay St. Louis by Hancock county Sheriff Ed Kellar and lodged in the local county jail but was ordered transferred to Gulfport a few hours afterwards, it was said.

The alleged bank bandit is a native of Hancock county, having resided in Bay St. Louis a number of years ago.

Charged With Robbing Merchants Bank. The Merchants Bank was robbed by two masked bandits who entered the bank at noon and escaped with $3394.70.

A few days later Oliver was taken into custody in New Orleans and convicted in criminal court there for robbery of the Freret street branch of Interstate Trust and Banking company. He was sentenced to five years in the Louisiana State penitentiary and had served about one year at the time he was turned over to Mississippi authorities, it was said.

After he was released to the Hancock county sheriff and placed in the Gulfport jail and bond set at $7,500, Necaise, desirous through his attorney to reduce the bail to $3,500 were denied by Circuit Judge White.

Disposition for the present of the Oliver case featured the sounding of the criminal docket as several other cases, a number that were on appeals from lower courts, were either continued for the term or dismissed.

Disposed of and Continued. In the case of the State against Paul Maurice, charged with assault, the defendant entered a plea of guilty and was fined $1.

Other criminal cases disposed of during Monday's forenoon session include the following:

Dan Fredrick, assault and battery, dismissed with proccendo; Johnnie Moran, et al., disturbing peace, continued; Daniel Necaise, assault, continued; Willie Jones, burglary, passed to files; Asa Spiers, larceny of cows, continued; Ernest Quintini, doing business without license, not pressed.

Dan Fayard, Sr., assault and bat-

MISSISSIPPI WETS SEEK OUTSIDE AID FROM CRUSADERS

Conner Blocking V o t e on Repeal, Says State Chairman

Chicago, Sept. 9.—Repeal advocates of the State of Mississippi have sought the aid of Colonel Ira L. Reeves, of Chicago, Western manager of the Crusaders, in giving Mississippi an opportunity to vote on the repeal of the 18th Amendment. Governor Conner is blocking a vote, according to Nelson T. Levings, of Moorhead, Miss., state chairman of the Crusaders.

Mr. Levings called at Chicago on Colonel Reeves yesterday to ask him to go to Mississippi and put on a campaign. The vote of his state is not needed to knock out the prohibition amendment by December he said but the wet attitude of the state should be recorded.

Gov. Conner Not In Harmony.

"Governor Conner is not in harmony with the national administration," Mr. Levings said. "He is a dry and his animosity to the Roosevelt administration goes back to the convention when he tried to steal the Mississippi delegation from Roosevelt. He is a political ally of Huey Long of Louisiana and he is playing Long's game. Perhaps he is trying to force something from the unity of all administration in return for expressing its sentiment."

Autocrat Has Lost Power.

"Governor Conner's inability to cooperate with the national administration has lost him the support of practically all political factions in the state. The fact that he is a dry and uses his power autocratically to prevent an election is evinced in his steadfast refusal to call a special session of the Legislature to set up the machinery for a repeal vote. The Mississippi issue is not wet and dry. As a matter of fact the state never overflowed more with liquor in its history. Beer, white not legal is being sold at every corner and filling station. The people are tired of the hypocrisy, lack of control, etc., the 18th amendment gave us. They are tired of professional politicians of this type."

"We want Colonel Reeves to come down to Mississippi and help us organize a campaign that will force the governor to accede to the wishes of the people."

ADDITIONS TO LIST.

Recently The Echo published a list of names of parties who had given cash donations to help defray the out-board regatta which took place here last Sunday. Additional names to the list include Frank Martin, W. L. Bourgeois, W. Val Yates and Fortune Jaubert.

Petit Jurors for First Week.

The petit jury empanelled and sworn for the first week of court follows:

Jury No. 1—Charles Moran, Green Brown, Stanley Koch, Sr., Alton Trivira, Leonard Dawsey, Ralph Craft, Willie Lee, Julian Pavre, August Moran, J. T. Thigpen, Virgil Stockstill, Ferdinand Luxich.

Jury No. 2—R. D. Ferrill, Laverne Brogdon, Charles Perkins, Dan F. Lee, A. E. Shaw, A. B. Hones, Ralph Hode.

When Court Convened.

When court convened at 9 o'clock Monday morning with Judge White on the bench, the courtroom was crowded as considerably the Oliver case is evident in grand jury investigation case and the grand jury investigation of the mysterious death of Mrs. Irene Moore Taconi more than two months ago. District Attorney Cowan and Hancock County Attorney Emile Gex were on hand.

The schools of the city opened Tuesday, September 6, with the largest enrollment in the history of the system of the schools. The grades are over crowded and it has been a problem to seat the children. The new Central School building was constructed to care for 350 pupils and now has approximately 500 in actual attendance. The ward schools are also filled to capacity. The high school enrollment is only a few more than last year but grades have increased considerably. The high school pupils from Logtown, and Lakeshore are transported here and tuition is paid by the county for county pupils, and the City of Waveland pays for high school pupils from there.

The faculty for the Bay St. Louis city schools is as follows:

Mr. S. J. Ingram, Superintendent. Mrs. E. E. Ashcraft, First Grade. Miss Louvinia Saucier, Second Grade. Miss Carmelite Spotorno, Third Grade. Miss Thelma Eaton, Fourth Grade. Miss Lois Quinn, Fifth Grade. Miss Gertrude Perkins, Sixth Grade and Girls Athletics Director. Mr. M. A. Phillips, Grade Math. and Science, and Boys Coach. Miss Julia Blaize, Grade English and H. S. History. Miss Oleah Mauffray, Grade Geography and H. S. History and French. Miss La Verne Caperton, Commercial.

Miss Marie Louise Renaud, High School Mathematics. Miss Bessie Givens, English. Miss Rachel Tarver, Home Economics. Mrs. Carl Smith, Music. Miss Virginia Chapman, Librarian.

Webb School

Mrs. F. E. Wright, Principal and first, second and third grades.

Taylor Mrs. W. W. Stockstill, Principal and first, second and third grades.

Night School Opens.

Night school opened on Monday night, September 11, with a good attendance. This feature of our school work is paid by the State Vocational Board and was sponsored several years by the local Rotary Club. The part-time classes meet on Tuesday and Thursday at 3:30 to 5:30 and night classes from 7:00 to 9:00 on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday nights. These classes are open to any person not enrolled in day school and 14 years of age—no tuition is charged for either of these sessions. of classes.

New Teachers

The new teachers this year are Miss Thelma Eaton from Sumrall, Mississippi and Miss Loretta Smith who is a resident of Bay St. Louis. Miss Carmelite Spotorno was transferred from teaching the first and second grades at the Webb School to the third grade teacher of the Central School.

SUNDAY OUTBOARD MOTOR RACES A HIT OF THE GAY SEASON

Last Aquatic Event of Season Attracts Many

The Bay-Waveland out-board motor races were a hit and numerous participants registered. It was one of the best events of the season and attracted many visitors.

Winners of the last outboard race were in the first race "We Steep" owned and driven by J. Lozano of New Orleans, with "Just Imagine" coming in second, owned by A. Taylor of Pass Christian.

The second race was won by "L-10" owned and driven by J. E. Herbert of Jackson, Miss., and "Yummin' Yummy" driven by Ted Laroussini a close second.

The third race was the most exciting one on the program. Two boats running only a matter of seconds apart for the full four rounds. These boats were driven by A. Sharp of Slidell, who finally managed to nose out Robt. Lozano, of New Orleans in his boat, "My Baby."

The fourth race was a free for all, with "L-10" finishing first, and Laroussini's boat second in this race there was about eight boats taking part.

The last race was for the larger inboard runabouts, which was won by the "Caw" owned by Miss Walmaley of New Orleans.

The Judge's boat was Hr. Irving Allen's new Matthew cruiser "Isabel" that he just bought down from Chicago by way of the Mississippi river. Judges were, J. W. Watts, Jr., Norvin Penrose, and Graham Jordy. Chas. A. Breath, Sr., acted as starter.

MRS. ELI SANDERS DIES
AT HOME AT FLAT
TOP, HANCOCK CO

Was Sister of Albert C
Brown of Brown's Vineyard—Survived by Family.

Mrs. Eli Sanders, resident of Flat Top, this county, native of this section, aged 74 years, died at her home Friday afternoon, September 8, at 3 o'clock, with funeral ceremony Saturday afternoon following at Flat Top cemetery.

Mrs. Sanders was the eldest of the family of children of the late Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Brown, founders of the well known Brown's Vineyard, on Old Spanish Trail, now owned as a place of residence by Albert S. Brown, a brother of the deceased.

The deceased was married in 1896 to Ed Sanders, of Michigan, who survives her, in addition to two daughters, Mrs. Ernest Lott, of Flat Top and Mrs. Ab. Mitchell of Nicholson Miss. In addition to the local brother another, William F. Brown, resides in New York City. Five grandchildren also survive.

Other surviving relatives are her nieces, Mrs. D. R. Rogers, of Glen Allen, Miss.; Mrs. M. A. Price of Ottawa, Canada; Mrs. Rene Toca of New Orleans and Mrs. F. P. Shepherdson of Welksburg, Pa.

Well and widely known, with friends and acquaintances over the county, the funeral was largely attended, all sections of the country represented and many beautiful flowers marked the last resting place.

Rev. Powell of the Baptist church officiating conducted the last rites of the church.

Mrs. Samders had lived long years of usefulness, years that not only covered a long span but of general and individual good to many. Her life it would seem had been dedicated to nothing but the most useful and ennobling influences. She was the devoted wife, the ideal mother and God in his greatness and generous gifts to mankind had bestowed no to greater attributes.

to no greater attributes. She lived the life of the homemaker, the neighbor in need as well as the friend in need. She knew naught of people but of good. She saw only their virtues and their kinderlier inclinations. To her the world was a place of happiness and peace, a place where people lived and enjoyed God's blessings only to live a greater and more beautiful life in the great beyond as continuance of the good here below.

Truly such good woman shall be missed from her home, circle of friends and the general sphere in which she lived. Her family and friends have suffered a loss.

A TAX-DESTROYED BUILDING.

UP to a short time ago a 20-story skyscraper stood in the famous Loop district of Chicago. The building returned a rent of $50,000 a year. A Chicago business man was offered the opportunity to buy it for $5.00. And he turned it down!

Since then the building has been wrecked, and the lot it stood on is being used for a parking space.

This amazing little story appeared recently in the editorial columns of the San Francisco Call-Bulletin. As the knowing will have guessed, the trouble with the building was taxes. They came to $40,000 a year. And the owners were in arrears an entire year. To continue to operate they would have had to pay out $80,000. The rent return didn't justify it.

And the result? Well, everyone lost: The owners of the building, who had invested money in it and were finally forced to destroy it in self-defense; the city, which was out thousands in taxes; and, lastly, the general public, which must make up the taxes the building would normally pay.

This is the old story of excessive taxation, and it has been told a thousand times. Bankruptcy, unemployment, industrial recession, slowed community progress—these are the inevitable casualties of wasteful and expensive government. It is time our law-makers read the handwriting on the wall.

CITY SCHOOLS ARE CONGESTED.

WHILE Central School building was planned and constructed to house and take care of 350 children approximately 500 pupils are attending classes there this session and each year, as records indicate, this crowded condition increases. The city is facing a serious problem for sooner or later it is going to become necessary to relieve this congestion—unfair both to the pupil and teacher as well.

We must take this as complimentary in more ways than one. First, the quality of school, ability of teachers, selected by board of trustees and to wise superintendence of our city superintendent. And again, it is evident this section is growing. Our population is increasing and it is well school facilities are afforded.

Nevertheless the fact remains the city will soon face a problem that is going to require an outlay of money and it might be well to be thinking in terms of serious and doing in the future not too far distant.

Fortunate for the tax-payers of the city, we are reminded, that private school carrying heavy enrollment as well, relieve to considerable extent this congestion. Were all educable children of this city and vicinity to be taken care of by the municipal schools a situation far more serious than the present would exist.

IDLE MEN MUST WORK.

THE national program to provide jobs for the millions of unemployed is the most sensible method yet offered to end the depression. Obviously, a man out of a job has no money he can spend, not even for the necessities of life. The natural and simple way to increase the demand for products is to find profitable work for the idle millions to do.

President Roosevelt has courageously attempted to find a method of putting these millions back to normal employment. The N. R. A. program, if adopted generally throughout the country, will accomplish this purpose. It is possible that lack of general cooperation might prevent the success of this plan but in that case the administration will certainly seek to accomplish the same result by some other method. Government must try to see that willing laborers have an opportunity to secure, through work, the necessities of life for themselves and families.

ONE OF THE MANY.

THE human race is made of a lot of people but Clyde Kinsey does not intend to be lost in the great shuffle.

A few days ago he broke into the news by marrying for the tenth time. Potential wives have evidently thinned. Clyde took wife number eight again for his tenth in a public ceremony at his night club.

Kinsey is a queer duck. He is a publicity artist. Once he attracted publicity by walking across the Continent backwards and another time by carrying a cup of water from the Pacific Ocean and pouring it in the Atlantic.

We can't blame the wives for giving Clyde the gate. Living with a man like that must be a rather doubtful and precarious status. But, while we would hate to live with him, he helps break the monotony of life by illustrating the queer antics of the human mind.

Wallace Reid, Jr., is the newest star in the firmament of movie realms. His father's work and likable personality will ever live with those whose privilege it was to know "Wally." May the son be a chipp off the old block.

Sensational newspaper reporting is a thing of the past. The public really in the last analysis doesn't wish it. It is generally born of the writer who imposes himself both on publisher and public.

THE IDEA IS TOO SENSIBLE TO BE CONSIDERED BY A PRACTICAL POLITICIAN.

(Natchez, (Miss.) Democrat)

GEORGE SMITH, floater representative from Harrison and Jackson counties in the legislature in a statement issued at Gulfport proposed submitting to a vote of the people the question of whether or not a constitutional convention shall be held. Smith's statement follows:

"Inasmuch as it will be necessary to call an election to submit to the people the question of repeal of the 18th Amendment to the federal constitution, I am in favor of submitting to a vote, at the same time, the question of whether or not a constitutional convention shall be called to re-write the constitution of the state.

"This is by far the most important question that has confronted the people of our state during the lifetime of many of the present voters is a question that should be decided by calm deliberation, and by the will of the majority.

"If a majority vote for a constitutional convention, the legislature can, at the regular session in January, fix an appropriation for a three-month period and recess to await completion of a new constitution and then meet and legislate in accordance with the terms of the new constitution."

It is evident that Mr. Smith is a Jeffersonian Democrat, rather than a practical politician well versed in the science of government and of the Hamiltonian school of thought.

Of course it would be the practical and sensible thing to do for Governor Conner to call a special session of the legislature to take up emergency matters such as to make it possible for Mississippi to take full advantage of the national recovery act, revise banking laws to qualify under the Glass-Steagall banking bill, legalize beer and submit repeal and a referendum on the constitutional convention proposal, after it had been definitely and specifically stated just what changes in the organic laws are proposed.

The idea is entirely too sensible to be considered by a practical politician with an inflated ego and delusion of grandeur.

The only chance for the country today is full-fledged co-operation with the N. R. A. Tomorrow will be time enough to point out why it can't work!

A NEW RACKET ON THE COAST.

YOUNG people sitting out of an evening on seawall top, people out of night traveling to and fro along the coast roads and beaches are subject to a new racket.

Bandits are operating to an extent that is far from uncommon. Elsewhere in the columns of this newspaper appears a chronicle where a party of Bay-Waveland young people were sitting out on the Clermont Harbor beach seawall and were taken totally unawares and viciously attacked. Beaten and robbed. After which escape was made good.

Along the coast line on the other side of the bay this, it appears, is common. Parties parked in autos are not safe from similar attacks and autoists traveling are overtaken by unknown men who step on the running board and at point of revolver proceed to do bodily harm if the slightest protest is registered.

It is hardly necessary to say this is poor advertising for this section. To say nothing of the fact dangerous to life and property. No one is seemingly safe. No one dares venture out at night.

It is evident this is the work of the one and same parties. It is the result of organized effort, which makes it appear all the easier to stamp out.

The Echo understands authorities of both Hancock and Harrison counties, municipal as well, are on the sharp look-out for the bandits and every energy is directed for apprehension. We must applaud this effort and the hope is expressed that the offenders may soon be found and the coast made free from this menace. It will not only deter our own people but keep visitors away.

Chicago has its racket. But nothing like this. In Chicago the racketeers injure and murder among their own kind. Here the innocent and unoffensive suffer.

About 10,000 years ago something happened to a distant star. Last week this record-breaking modern world found it out. How's that for news? Only 10,000 years old.

THE SCHOOL TEACHER MAY GET REWARD HEREAFTER.

OUR city and county schools have by now opened for the new scholastic year and teachers and pupils returned to work for a long season of tedious and studious effort. Patrons co-operate with teachers, sometimes, and pupils are responsive to the unending and untiring efforts of the teacher.

There is no worker in the public field better equipped and trained than the teacher. And in turn, comparatively, there is no public worker paid less. Salaries paid teachers as a whole is too frequently begrudged by the unthinking and selfish tax-payer and only too often is the pay for teachers unjustly criticised.

A teacher works nine months during the year. The other three bring no financial return. On the contrary, there is a liability with no tangible asset. Teacher must go to normal work during the hottest part of the summer, face expenditure of salary earned for normal school and returns to the old grind. Not certain whether this will be the last year or the State will come forth with pay or not. Both are uncertain.

In the last analysis: Teaching is a noble endeavor, a glorious ambition and accomplishment worth while. But on the other hand, the least appreciated and poorest paid of any profession. Salaries have been cut time and time again. Teachers graciously accept same. Will they receive thanks? Will anyone remember their sacrifices?

School children of today should be happy—a hundred years ago pupils had to make as well as study their text-books.

MERELY THEORETICAL

By GEORGE E. SCHILLING
(For The Sea Coast Echo)

OUR LOCAL PROBLEM.

THIS column has been discussing national economic problems. The United States of America is so big that a great many people cannot see it at all. Even in the national legislature the members tend to think of local, or of sectional advantage, rather than of the country as a whole. So the question arises as to just what the National Recovery Act and all the rest of the New Deal means to the Bay-Waveland district, and what it means to each one of us individuals.

It is a commonplace that almost everything we buy here, and everywhere else, comes from a long distance. For our breakfast coffee is brought from Brazil and sugar from Cuba, the Philippine Islands, or some other far away place. Bread is made from wheat grown, perhaps, in Kansas or in Minnesota. Our fruit is probably from California. Our automobiles were probably made in Michigan, and the tires in Ohio. This sort of examples could be prolonged through the whole column. The point that is important for us to remember when we try to be too independent in our thinking is that, if we are to live in any kind of comfort, we have to send a great deal of our money to places all over the may in order to pay for the things we have been accustomed to using.

A century ago our great-grandparents were much more independent than we are today, for they raised and made, in their own localities, much more of the food they ate, the clothes they wore, and even the houses they lived in and the tools they made use of. We cannot, or will not, return to their habits, no matter how much we are preached at. (It would bankrupt almost, if not quite, every millionaire and every government in the country if we were to do so.) The world has moved so fast and so far in the last hundred years that we cannot cease to depend on others for most of our common comforts without a general breakdown.

But the amount of money we can spend, that is the amount we have to exchange for the necessities, comforts and luxuries we want for ourselves, depends on the amount we can get from others for what we have to offer them. The community, as well as the family, has to produce something to trade. Bay-Waveland is a resort district, and the largest amounts we receive are from our summer visitors, and from the smaller number of year-round commuters, almost all of whom are from New Orleans. The business, like all modern business, is enormously complex, and no figures in regard to it can be exact. Sometimes the money brought in is sent out again directly, as when a merchant pays his supply house with cash received from a visitor. Sometimes the money passes through a number of hands before being sent out again. But it is evident that, in the course of a year, the amount received from visitors and commuters and the amount spent outside of the district will very nearly balance, for we have no other important source of income.

How much we are to receive and, therefore, how much prosperity we are to enjoy here, will depend on two factors. One of these, of which we are apt to think first, is the number of all the visitors there are whom we can attract to this particular locality, instead of some other. If we can get a dozen visitors to come here instead of going somewhere else it is a gain for us. This competition with other resorts tends to lower prices and so to reduce our own profits, just as has been happening with practically every other business all over the country.

The other factor, and probably the most important, although not so simple as the other, is that of the prosperity of our visitors. That depends upon general business conditions all over the United States, and to a very much less extent, upon conditions all over the world. We depend very largely on visitors from New Orleans, and New Orleans, as a business and shipping center, is dependent upon the rest of the country. Higher wages in New England and New York will bring a greater demand for cotton, which will mean more money for the New Orleans cotton trade, and some of that money will be spent here. Better business in Louisiana, Mississippi, Arkansas and Texas will mean more sales at better prices by New Orleans wholesale houses, and more people in position to enjoy a vacation on the Gulf Coast.

It is in this way that the Blue Eagle is important to everyone of us. If successful, the New Deal will increase prosperity by increasing spending power, and we will get our share of the increase. It is an important point that shorter working time at the same wage scale will mean more leisure, and that will lead directly to more holidays and vacations on the Coast. The opposite system of long hours and low pay for workers, with millions of unemployed, means that those who have money to spend have no leisure, and those who have leisure have nothing to spend, both unfavorable to us.

If we are to prosper we need to give our visitors fair treatment, fair value and hospitality that will induce them to come again. But we need no less a condition of well-being throughout the whole country in which we can share. Not even New York City itself is less independent of the general welfare.

SAUNTERINGS From Where The West Begins.

By JOHN T. MEYERS.
For The Sea Coast Echo.

San Antonio, Texas, Sept. 12, 1933.

THE real meaning of the Latin phrase 'tempus fugit' is made clear to all vacationists. Just when one gets accustomed to overlooking an alarm clock, the job, and boss, too... begins to really relax and enjoy the temporary role of a 'gentleman of leisure'. . . presto—the curtain is rung down, and its hippity-hop back to the daily grind. Reluctantly, one departs from the bosom of loved ones. Bidding au revoir is a painful task. The heart carries away many unspoken sentiments. . . we dare not trust to the tongue at this moment. Vivid memories of the few happy hours spent at home will smolder in our heart throughout the year.

SCHOOL bells have again sounded their beckoning dingdong to the youth of the land. Baseball lots and swimming holes are deserted. The spotted pup can't understand why his young master orders him back, as he starts for school each morning. Pretty, little girls, too, must forsake their dollies and playthings. For now they are solving the mysteries of reading, writing and 'rithmetic. A fine lot of youngsters, these. Someday in the future the welfare of the United States will be entrusted in their care. A president in the making is bending over a desk at his studies somewhere in our land today.

A GROUP of small scholars stood near a school yard entrance. Parents drove up with their children, bid them the good, and obeyed teacher's "then departed on their way to adult occupations. One red-headed, freckle-faced lad stood thoughtfully and silently watching the procession for a time. "Wish I could do like those big folks," he finally confided to a chum. Many grown ups would gladly exchange places with these rosy-cheeked youngsters if such were possible. Unknowingly, the school kids are experiencing the happiest mile posts along life's path.

HOSPITAL attendants in the emergency wards of large hospitals witness strange experiences in the daily routine of their tasks. Each return journey of the ambulance from its mission of mercy brings dramatic flashes from the stage of life. Battered victims from wrecks, shooting and cutting scrapes, the desperate girl who attempts to end it all with poison, snake bite victims, and other serious cases are hastened to the emergency ward. Here, every moment counts in an effort to save the patient from the clutches of the grim reaper. Calmly and efficiently the emergency ward staff of doctors, nurses, and orderlies perform their humanitarian duties. Loyal, noble workers—every one of them—serving in a noble profession.

EVEN as the recent hurricane whipped its destruction over the Texas Rio Grande valley, newspaper men were carrying on in the midst of danger in order that outside readers might have first-hand news from the stricken area. Jack Specht, daring and fearless staff cameraman for the San Antonio Light proved his mettle during a picture taking assignment that sent him racing to the storm-swept Texas coast. Riding in a plane piloted an intrepid local airman, Specht trained his camera on demolished buildings, and other scenes of despair and desolation viewed from the air. A terrific gale was blowing at the time.

AT midnight, defying the force of a 60-mile gale, Jack shot a picture of destruction caused by glutinous waves in the act of tearing away a pleasure pier at Corpus Christi. Three men were required to steady his tripod, as he snapped the wild scene.

Relief workers, police officials, army units, and others also deserve praise for their tireless, unselfish aid and heroism in the storm swept sector. The Rio Grande valley has been hard hit. But its progressive citizens are not standing around bemoaning their sad plight. Already reconstruction activities are well under way. The Texas valley and affected sea coast regions are gamely fighting back to normalcy. In short time they will triumph, their fruitful land more beautiful and richer than ever before. Don't fail to visit the Rio Grande Valley should you travel the Spanish Trail westward. This is a land of Paradise.

YE old typewriter puncher is all 'stuck up.' Literally speaking, of course. We got that way pulling grass from our cactus bed. During our brief absence the grass seemed to attempt a record growth—or something. Which also reminds that the lawn mower will be needing exercise. We don't mind that so much, if only these elephant-sized Texas chiggers (red bugs) will behave.

A "BUY DURING SEPTEMBER" drive sponsored by the Hearst newspapers is getting under way in San Antonio. This is a tie up with the NRA program now in effect over the United States. A gigantic parade is to be held on Wednesday evening. Military, civic, patriotic, fraternal and labor organizations will be in line. San Antonio leaders will urge the general public to support the president's NRA plan by an increased buying

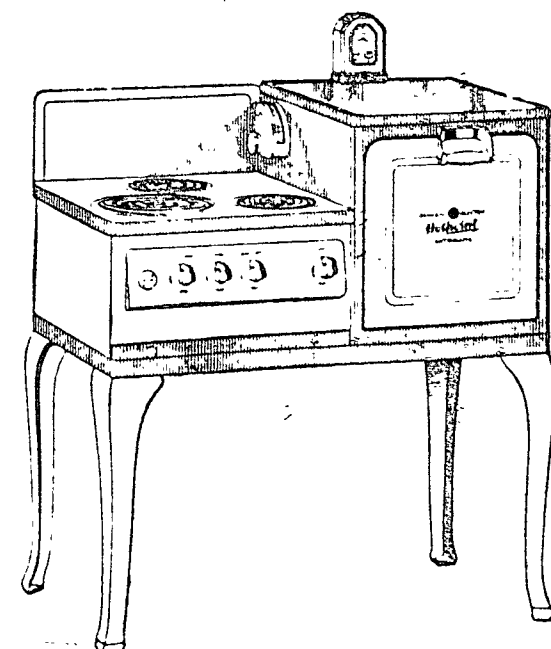

One Strand Won't Carry a Bridge

THE builder who expects one slim cable to hold up a great bridge is doomed to disappointment. The saver who expects a single deposit to support his plans for financial independence also faces failure. It takes many strands of wire, woven together, to carry the one. And a bridge across the gulf of Want needs many savings deposits, made regularly, to make it secure.

EDITOR Birney Imes regarding the constitutional convention suggests, let the people vote. "If they feel that a constitutional convention is advisable in these troublous times, these times of strife and turmoil and unrest, then let it be convened."

That is fundamentally good sound sense. It goes right back to the rights and privileges upon which this nation is founded.

We might also say with equal logic that the legislature has that right and this is fundamentally sound since legislators are chosen by the people.

At any rate, Mr. Imes points out, there has been too much hemming, too much hawing, too much clearing of the throat. Too much effort, indeed, to make mountains out of molehills regarding the convention. "All this talk about our liberties being endangered by a constitutional convention is the sheerest nonsense," asserts Governor Conner.

That is entirely true. Of course, campaign, in order that more workers can be placed on the merchant's payrolls.

SAN Antonio's most optimistic unemployed individual has been found. He is a young man who believes in the motto, "the early bird catches the worm." Realizing that the post office department employs extra help during the Christmas holiday rush, he has already placed his name on the application list. Such a spirit deserves credit. We wish him luck.

there are reasons why a constitutional convention should be postponed. And apparently there are almost as valid reasons why this should be held.

Personally we are ready to abide by a majority on the question. But it is to be hoped that this question may soon be settled without so much "hemming," so much "hawing," and needless clearing of the throat.

Unless there is quick decision, if there are any more delays, first thing we know, if the call is postponed until the regular session next year, an extraordinary session will be necessary following the regular session. That will bring about needless extra burdens on taxpayers. More relief is needed now.

Surely that which has to be done can best be done by doing it NOW.

THE PEOPLE WILL NOT YIELD RIGHT TO ELECT THEIR OFFICIALS.

(Jackson Clarion-Ledger.)

IF the legislature in regular or extra session, calls a constitutional convention, and—

If that constitution convention takes away from the people their right to elect their officials and puts that power in the hands of one man, or one board, or one commission.

There will be a new plank in the platform of all the candidates in the year 1935 and that plank will call for another constitutional convention in order to place back in the hands of the people the right to select people who govern them from governor down to constable.

And those who run on that ticket will be elected unanimously. So why spend the taxpayers' money in marching up the hill, when the next step will be to wear out the seat of your trousers in sliding back down. This will be merely a double expense with no advantage to any one.

WITH THE MOVIES AND FILM FOLKS

(For the Sea Coast Echo)

IN an effort to find out if cinema-goers can recognize the voices of familiar screen stars without seeing their faces, Paramount has begun a novel experiment. A series of films are to be presented, one each week, in theatres all over the country, in which the actors will speak their lines with their backs to the audience. A set of eighteen autographed photographs will be sent to patrons who can name each of the players correctly.

Dorothy Lee has returned to Hollywood from the Broadway stage to appear in the Wheeler and Woolsey's newest comedy, "Hips, Hips, Ho!"

"Born To Be Bad," a story of a model who makes good in the big city, is Loretta Young's first picture for Twentieth Century.

Jacqueline Wells, a newcomer to the screen whose only other appearance was in "Tarzan the Fearless," will appear with W. C. Fields and Allison Skipworth in their Paramount picture, "Tillie and Gus."

George Brent and Margaret Lindsay have the leads in "From Headquarters," Ken Murray and Dorothy Burgess are also in the cast.

James Cagney is to have two leading women in his Warner Brothers picture, "The Finger Man." They are Mae Clark and Patricia Ellis.

Maurice Chevalier, who has announced that he is through with "giddy, wine-bibbling, lady-killer roles," is next to appear in a story which is supposed to be based on Mr. Chevalier's life. He has just completed "The Way to Love" a Paramount production with Ann Dvorak.

The titles of some of Universal's forthcoming films have been changed. "Special Investigator," in which Wynne Gibson had the lead will be called "Wanted at Headquarters," and "Kid Gloves," a prize ring story featuring Helen Twelvetrees and Chester Morris, has become "Dangerous to Women."

A return to films centuring on the Fourth Estate is seen in Warner Brothers' next picture, "Hi, Nellie," featuring Paul Muni as a hard-boiled editor.

With six films practically completed or four others ready for exhibition and eight more ready for the cameras, K-O-Radio studios new production season is in full stride. Among those in production are "A Chance at Heaven," "Little Women," "Aggie Appleby, Model of Men," "Without Glory," and "Beautiful." Those to be released soon are "Flaming Gold," with William Boyd and Mae Clarke; "Ann Vickers," "Midshipman Austin," with Bruce Cabot and Betty Furness and "Son of Kong," with Robert Armstrong.

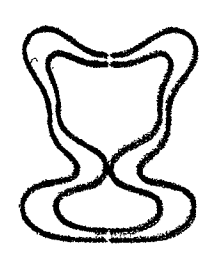

Lee Tracy will appear as the manager of an advice to the lovelorn column of a Broadway newspaper in "Miss Lonelyhearts," a Twentieth Century production. He was borrowed from MGM for this picture.

"Marie Antoinette, an Average Woman," will be Norma Shearer's next picture for MGM under the direction of Irving Thalberg, who will also produce "Good Earth" for the same company.

Fifi D'Orsay, Ted Healy and his stooges, Ned Sparks and the Albertina Rasch dancers will appear with Marion Davies in "Going Hollywood."

not. There has been at least two theories advanced in connection with this case, probably those two theories will be advanced to you. Your duty is not to prove those theories. Your only duty is to ascertain the facts. You can follow any line tending to establish the real facts and may call any officer or any individual to obtain facts. Not being an expert in legal matters the law has provided you with a legal advisor. You have an able and an experienced district attorney who will be ready to aid you in this or any other case. You should not hesitate to call on him."

Grand Jury

The grand jury, empaneled at the opening of the circuit court—term Monday morning by Judge Walter A. White, is composed of: Gaston A. Lee, Leetown, farmer (foreman); James Davis, Logtown, laborer; H. W. Kellar, Gravel Pit, farmer; Aras Cuevas, Dedaux, farmer; Jake Green, Lake Shore, trapper; T. A. Dean, Sr., Logtown, grocer; S. L. Dill, Flat Top, farmer; Arthur Shaw, Sellers, farmer; B. A. Haas, Kiln, farmer; Claude Bourgeois, Waveland, town employee; R. C. Cuevas, Ansley, farmer; Rupert Fleming, Flat Top, farmer; W. P. Lee, Jr., Leetown, farmer; David Ladner, r., Bay St. Louis, bridge tender; Fred Bourgeois, Waveland, laborer; and John Schwartz, Ansley, trapper. Frank Taconi, bailiff.

Many Subpoenaed

Accordingly, some forty or fifty persons were subpoenaed and Monday these "witnesses" were being called in the jury room for quizzing. Of course, what each one said or revealed under oath before the grand jury remains a secret, considered sacred, and can in no way or manner be told in part or whole until six months have elapsed. Such testimony, however, if called for, may be given in open court, as seen fit or expedient.

Rose Ann Moore, 12-year-old elementary school student, and sister of the deceased, accompanied by her father, A. W. Moore, and who remained at the corridor door, was the first called. Her story in the jury room was quite lengthy, but of what nature were the questions put to her are not divulged. Others followed, Herbert Thigpen, teacher at Aaron Academy, located in the interior of Hancock county, and Frank Dillman, member of the city fire fighting force.

The large list of people subpoenaed included E. Van Whitfield, former sheriff of Hancock county, and others who were among the first to reach the girl's unconscious body on

ASS'T BANK CASHIER CALLED BY SUDDEN DEATH OF FATHER

Joseph B. Burrow, assistant cashier Merchants Bank & Trust Company, received a message Thursday night to the effect that his father, Joseph W. Burrow, planter and merchant had died from a heart attack at his home Saltillo, Lee County, Mississippi, native of that section, aged 66 years.

Mr. Burrow left immediately for the home and is spending a week or ten days with his mother. The deceased was a man of splendid business ability, and possessed of the attributes that go to make an ideal citizen, husband and father. He is survived by his widow, one daughter and three sons. The press of his country paid him fine tribute and noted the distinct loss that section sustains by his demise.

Two Major Realty Deals Reported This Week in Bay-Waveland

C. Greer Moore has sold one of the choicest building lots in Bay St. Louis, selling to Miss Geraldine Ames the north-west corner of Beach Boulevard and de Montluzin avenue, the purchaser, it is understood made the buy to build a family dwelling thereon. The consideration, it is said, is $3,500.

The Waveland beach dwelling owned by Cartwright Eustis and originally built by the late M. A. Dauphin was sold this week for a consideration of $15,000. The place was originally purchased by Mr. Eustis some years ago for $10,000. Mr. F. Jaubert, holder of a two-year lease, expiring in April, 1934, canceled his lease by mutual consent on a refund of the balance of the rental money. The purchaser is a New Orleans party.

Members SeaFood Commission Return From Trip to Jackson

R. N. Blaize, president of the Mississippi Coast SeaFood Commission, accompanied by George Smith, attorney; Vinson Smith, member, and Dr. R. M. Mosely, secretary to the commission, returned Tuesday from a trip to Jackson where they appeared before budget and appropriation committee, of which A. H. Stone is the executive head, and acting under legislative auspices. The party are in their praises of the manner in which they were received at Jackson and how their demands in the interest of the gulf coast were mutually discussed and agreed.

Opening Meeting For Season of St. Joseph's Parent-Teachers' Ass'n.

In order that Rev. Father A. J. Gmelch, spiritual director, might be present, the announced meeting of St. Joseph's P. T. A. meeting, to have been held Thursday of this week will take place the day following Friday—today—at 2:30 o'clock, at the convent. Mrs. W. A. Staehle, president, asks for a full attendance as this will be the first meeting for the school year and considerable business will be discussed and disposed of. Father Gmelch will address the gathering. Ladies will also meet the recently-appointed Mother Superior.

that tragic morning. Members of Taconi's family, members of several prominent Bay St. Louis families, and representatives of New Orleans newspapers, including Marshall Ballard, editor New Orleans Item, residing in Bay St. Louis, and whose newspapers, the Item and Morning Tribune carried extensive stories of the finding of the body.

A large number of those summoned did not testify before the coroner's jury. Conspicuous in the group were two physicians, Chapman Marshall, son of Carl Marshall, Mrs. Taconi's sister, Rose Ann Moore and the father and brother of Nolan Taconi. Nolan Taconi, husband, and other relatives on the Taconi side were among those appearing before the investigating body.

Does Not Believe Wife Took Own Life

When approached, Taconi, himself one of the principal witnesses in the investigation, said he was still of the opinion that his bride had been murdered. But he added "whatever the grand jury does will settle the case." At the coroner's hearing, Taconi, indicating he did not believe Irene took her own life, said "she was in too good a humor when I left to have killed herself."

MRS. BRYAN'S AFTERNOON BRIDGE AT HOME ON WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

Mrs. John Bryan, ever charming and most successful hostess, entertained at her beautiful home at Cedar Point, on North Beach Boulevard, Wednesday noon and afternoon at a luncheon-bridge, to which there were several tables of players, the affair another of the many beautiful and successful entertainments of the gay summer season.

Bridge was the all-absorbing entertainment of the afternoon and when the contest came to a close and scores added the winners of the afternoon were declared, Mrs. Robt. L. Genin, first; Miss Vickie Gex, second, and Mrs. C. G. Moreau, third. The handsome cut prize was captured by Mrs. Edmund F. Fahey.

Miss V. Gex was the honoree of this beautiful affair since it was the day of her birthday and she was the recipient of signal attention.

ENTERTAINING IN HONOR MISS LUCILLE JAUBERT AT PT. O' PINES.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Jaubert, Jr., entertained a number of the younger set in honor of their daughter Lucille at Point O'Pines Friday night.

Among those present were Misses Peggy Norman, Augusta Walmsley, and Lillian Jaubert.

Messrs. Ted Laroussini, Horace Thompson, James Jaubert, John de Ben, Lambert Boyd, Larry Jaubert, A. J. Combe, Jack Peterson, Richard Jaubert.

MRS. TOBIN UNDERWOOD GIVES BRIDGE LUNCHEON FOR MRS. F. HERLIHY.

Mrs. Tobin Underwood, whose hospitable and inviting home is in Main street, was hostess Wednesday afternoon to a charming bridge-luncheon that claimed interest and proved of much pleasure.

Complimenting Mrs. Fred Herlihy on the occasion of her birthday, a large cake appropriately decorated and the conventional candles was a feature of the afternoon refreshment and proved a gesture of more than ordinary interest.

High scorers were Mrs. Joseph R. Schaff, Mrs. Norton Haas, Mrs. Millard Touline capturing the "cut trophy."

Miss Augusta Walmsley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Semmes Walmsley, of New Orleans, entertained Tuesday evening a number of young friends summering at the Christian and Bay St. Louis at a birthday party at the residence of the family summer home on Pass Christian, East Beach, which proved an affair of unforgettable pleasure.

Miss Walmsley returned to New Orleans Wednesday, the day following, and will shortly leave for the East to resume her studies.

Mrs. C. Jaubert-Chadwick has invited members of Merry Michigan Club to her home in Tulane Apartments Hotel for Sunday evening, with a list of twelve guests. A charming and successful hostess, the affair is eagerly anticipated.

"GARDEN ZOO"

Mr. C. B. Mollere is building up a "Zoo" and has quite a collection of coons, squirrels, monkey, rabbits, etc. The children and grown up folks spend some time watching the antics of these little animals.

Mr. H. A. Lassiter has purchased the store on Waveland avenue formerly operated by Mr. O. M. Villere, and will carry a complete line of fancy and staple groceries, meats and vegetables. Mr. Lassiter is a firm believer in the future prosperity of Waveland and wants to get in on the ground floor. The Echo wishes him success.

FAREWELL PARTY.

The American Legion and their friends tendered a farewell party Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Miller in Coleman avenue, to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Loudon, who are leaving for Milwaukee, Wis., to make their future home. Mrs. H. A. Thompson of Nicholson avenue also tendered this worthy couple a farewell party Saturday night. Mr. and Mrs. Loudon have made Waveland their home for the past 10 years and have a host of friends who wish them success in their new home and hope some day to welcome them back to Waveland.

Mrs. J. W. Ahrens entertained her friends with a weenie party on the beach. Had a good time.

Rev. Herman Jacobi, Mrs. Combre and son, Bert, motored over from Reserve, La., with 27 Altar Boys and had a glorious time on the beach and at the home of Father Jacobi's parents.

The friends of Mrs. Dan Fayard, Sr., will be pleased to learn that she is rapidly recovering from recent illness.

Mrs. Alma Slade will leave for Hot Springs, Ark., in a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Herlihy have motored to Chicago to attend the Century of Progress and will be absent a few weeks.

Mrs. F. F. Simmeaux, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Upton of New Orleans were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Rene Foltzer.

CARD OF THANKS.

Take this method of thanking the friends and neighbors of our sister, Mrs. Eli Sanders, who passed away at Flat Top on last Friday. Especially thank Mrs. J. W. Fleming, Mrs. Boyd Smith, Mrs. Wheat, Mrs. McArthur and all others who were with her in her brief illness. Wish to thank Rev. Powell for his beautiful and consoling words at church and grave. All will be remembered for ever by us.

Gratefully,
ALBERT BROWN,
BESSIE BROWN.
